THE CHIPMUNK

Hello Fellows and Gals:

I consider it an honour to have been asked to "say my piece" to you folks "over there" and away from home.

The old Book Store, or Junk Shop as I heard it called last Summer, is trying to carry on under very trying conditions, and has closely resembled a mad-house for the past six weeks. It is very difficult to get delivery of textbooks from the United States, owing to shortage of paper, and next to impossible to get any books from England and when the titles go out of print there, "good night"

We have increased <sup>our staff</sup> from two to four, Eleanor Day and myself, Pauline Gould and Gay Gordon, Dr R.K's genial young son. When the staff is not busy, I wonder when that is, and even when we are busy, there is a continual rivalry as to who hands out the most "corn". A sample: a student came to the wicket last week requesting a copy of Boyd's Pathology and was informed by Gay that stock was out, adding "I guess a Boyd in the hand is worth two in the bush. That's really "corn" at its worth.

At present our space is exceedingly limited and I have been trying to persuade the powers that be of that fact but so far to no purpose, but I have hopes.

I am getting a great deal of pleasure, since Varsity opened, of welcoming back a very considerable number of former students, some of whom I have known very well personally and I hope the time is not too far distant when the whole gang will be home again and able to resume their studies.

The Post Office, which is attached to the Book Store, is under Art's supervision is also a very bust spot, with Post Office Boxes at a premium and long line-ups waiting for mail between lectures. The average mail per day arriving at the University is ten to twelve bags and outgoing about ten. Of course when one considers the present enrollment this is not surprising. With the students, staff and their families we have a fair sized City.

Since the present term started we are repeatedly getting letters from other University Book Stores asking if we can spare copies of ~~other~~ texts, slide rules etc., what a hope. This goes to show how really short textbooks are.

Well, I think that is about all I can think of to say at present, but I would like to wish you all the very best that the Christmas Season and the New Year can give you.

Sincerely
